Some rooms simply insist. Grandview's great room is one of them. Twenty-one feet across, nearly twenty feet deep — a room that opens onto a covered patio, borrows light from three directions, and lets a formal dining table for twelve sit at one end without crowding the sofas at the other. The kitchen behind it stretches sixteen feet, with a walk-in pantry positioned to serve dining and great room without a single wasted step. Downstairs, a rec room over thirty-four feet long. A fifth bedroom with a private bath, on request. A walkout patio waiting to be built
