Rosewood is the ranch that dresses for the occasion. The plan can appear as a farmhouse, a prairie ranch, a stone-faced traditional, or a modern-forward composition, all fronting the same intelligently drawn floor plan behind. Inside, a Family Room stretching seventeen feet in both directions, a primary suite that reconfigures three separate ways, and a second bedroom that becomes a private study on request. Downstairs, elect Bedroom 5 with private bath and choose between a traditional tub or a shower-with-seat configuration. Rosewood chooses its face carefully.

All square footage is approximate. Renderings are artist's conceptions and may vary slightly from the actual home. Homes may be built in reverse of plans shown, depending on site conditions. Minor architectural changes may be made occasionally at the option of the builder. Please contact your Sales Consultant for details.
