Cornerstone is not a home that arrives at a subdivision. It arrives at a site. Three roof-covered patios spill off the main level. A see-through fireplace anchors the front patio to the great room. A primary suite opens to its own private outdoor room. Then, the basement — where Cornerstone separates itself from every other Classic ranch: an optional chilled wine room or walk-up dry bar and dedicated wine storage. For buyers who no longer collect houses. They collect vintages.
