Stonewood is a home that arrives fully considered, at standard. Nothing requires an upgrade to feel like an estate. The Great Room stretches over twenty feet. The kitchen anchors sixteen feet in both directions. The primary suite runs nearly seventeen feet square. A formal dining room, a walk-in pantry, a laundry laid out by someone who has actually done laundry, and a dedicated main-floor study — doored and standard. Downstairs, the collection's largest standard rec room: thirty-six feet by nearly twenty-five, almost nine hundred square feet before a single upgrade is elected. Stonewood doesn't grow into you. It arrives fully considered.

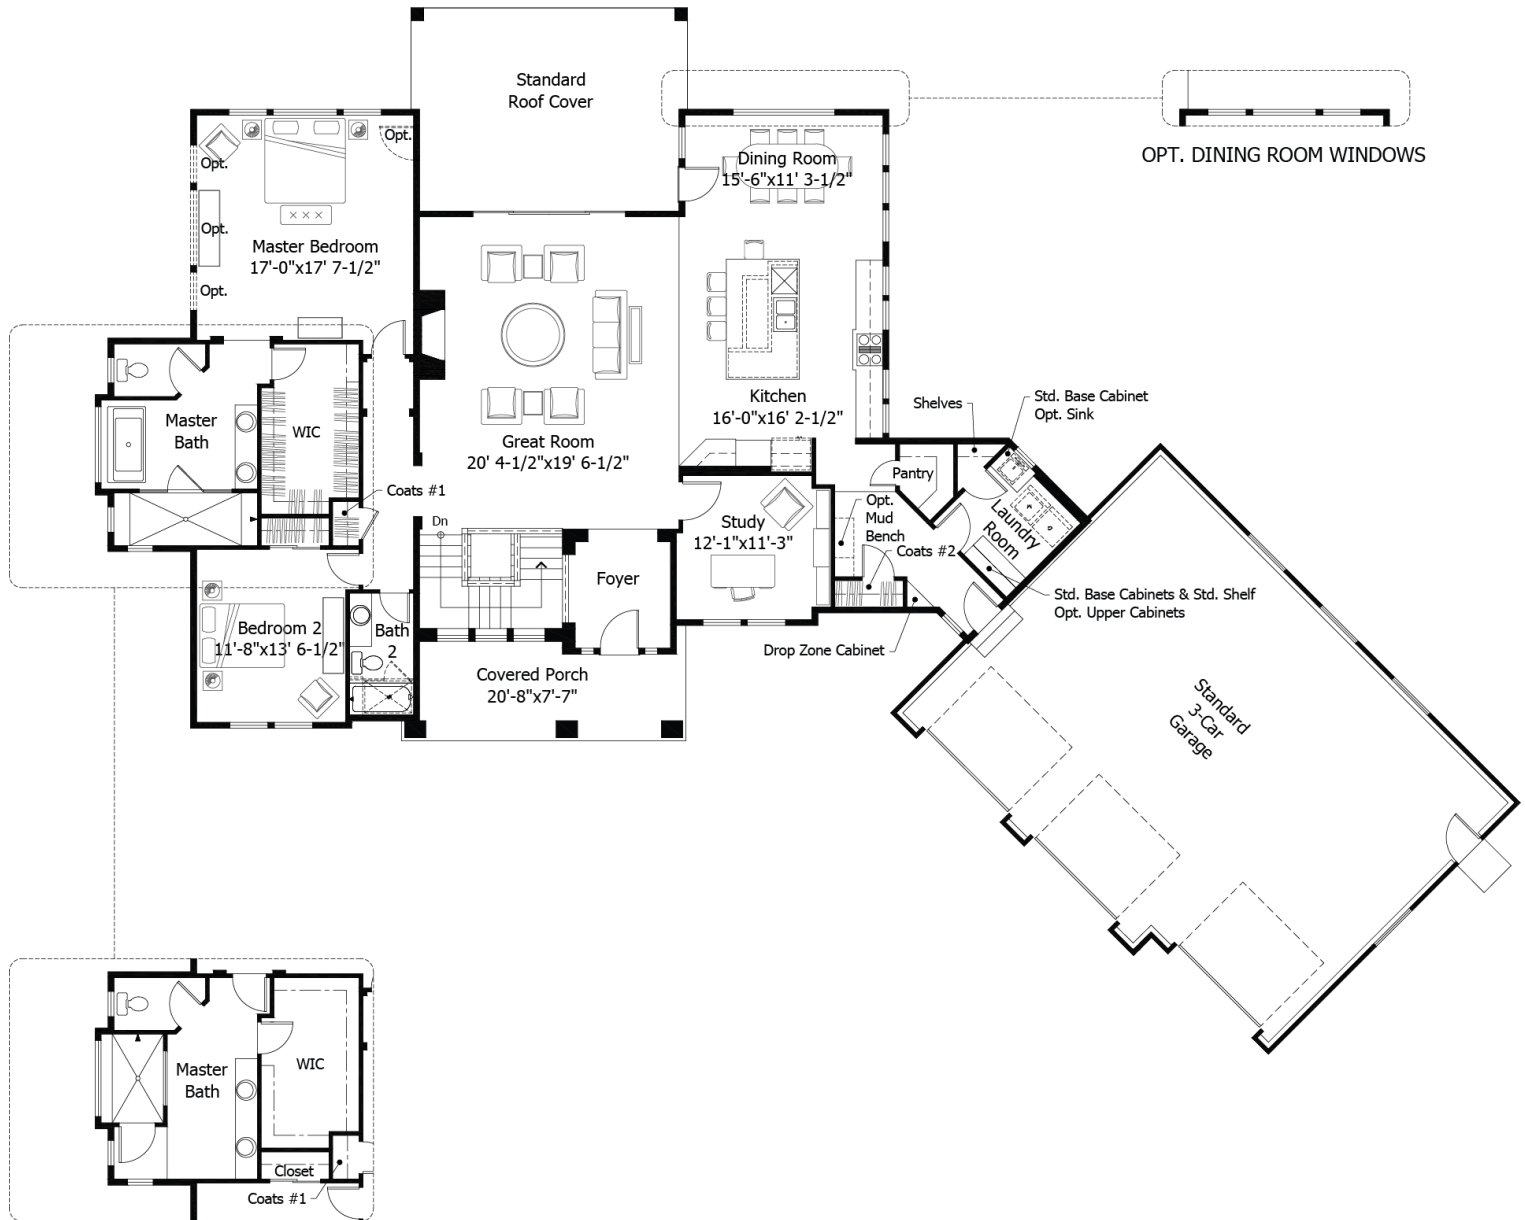

All square footage is approximate. Renderings are artist's conceptions and may vary slightly from the actual home. Homes may be built in reverse of plans shown, depending on site conditions. Minor architectural changes may be made occasionally at the option of the builder. Please contact your Sales Consultant for details.
